Dun & Bradstreet To Exhibit At Ingram Micro Cloud Summit 2016

Leader in Commercial Information to Showcase Business Solutions at Seventh Annual Ingram Micro Cloud Summit April 11 - 13 in Phoenix, Arizona #CS16

PHOENIX, April 11, 2016 /PRNewswire/ -- Dun & Bradstreet today announced it will be exhibiting at Ingram Micro Cloud Summit 2016, taking place today, April 11 - 13, 2016 at the JW Marriot Desert Ridge in Phoenix, Arizona. More information, including registration and agenda details, is available at ingrammicrocloudsummit.com.

Themed "Where Rainmakers Thrive," Ingram Micro Cloud Summit is one of the largest, dedicated cloud services events for the global IT channel that delivers best practices for successfully marketing, selling and supporting cloud services to better meet the needs of businesses of all sizes. Dun & Bradstreet will demonstrate its new Business Solutions for Microsoft Office 365 which is available now to channel partners through the Ingram Micro Cloud Marketplace. Additional information about the offering can be found online at <https://us.cloud.im/en/products/dun-and-bradstreet/business-credit/>.

With attendance expected to exceed 1,000, the three-day event attracts the industry's top solution providers, cloud services providers, cloud vendors, telcos, hosters, and other cloud innovators and thought leaders. Cloud Summit 2016 carries the distinction of being the first to debut the biggest cloud ecosystem in the world. Attendees will learn about new opportunities to transform and grow their business through the Ingram Micro Cloud Ecosystem and how they can accelerate success in the cloud.

"Businesses around the world rely on Dun & Bradstreet's commercial information, and with the launch of Business Solutions, we're making seamless access to our insights even easier," said Mark Schwendener, leader of business development for Global Alliances & Partnerships, Dun & Bradstreet. "Through trusted VAR relationships, we're pleased to offer businesses a more comprehensive view of their customers and prospects to help increase productivity and fuel growth."

"Cloud Summit 2016 is the most exciting event we've ever hosted, as it presents a unique opportunity for us to unveil an industry first, the Ingram Micro Cloud Ecosystem. We're thrilled to bring together our partners in the channel, telco and hoster segments and offer valuable insight and education into the new opportunities now available for them in the cloud," said Renee Bergeron, vice president, Global Cloud, Ingram Micro. "We look forward to Dun & Bradstreet's participation in this year's Cloud Summit and welcome their role in the cloud ecosystem, as we work together to successfully bring the promise of cloud services to businesses of every size, worldwide."
